

The objective fact of being by oneself is the August's monthly theme. As such, ONE can think of the many variations to tell a story. Perhaps, it is to describe a state of loneliness that allows it's audience to gain a sense of mystery. To make things much more interesting, "ALONE" theme rules, required all entries be submitted in Black & White (BW). The mechanics with BW differ from that of the normal color prints in that, each entry would need address the need to apply contrast, shape, form, tone, texture and detail within its composition. The top picks for this month's photos and photographers were Mr. Joey Antonio, Ms. Annabelle Chavez and Mr. Paul San Pedro. These photographers successfully integrated these aspects in each of their entries.

Joey Antonio, carefully used the various forms and shades of the rock formations within a cave. The ray of light into the space created the leading lines that masterfully captured his subject. It also provided the depth or height within the confines of this space. The composition created a serene feeling contrasting the depth or mystery brought about by being inside of a cave. The highlighted effect and play of light toward the subject created a positive feeling of hope that tells a story of looking forward to a new day.

ALONE in B&W

by Cha Valmonte

Annabelle Chavez masterfully used the varied contrasts and textures of an inner city's architecture. The leading lines brought about by the narrowing walkway through this corridor successfully captured her subject. The contrasting tones of light and shadow created an air of mystery to the composition. In addition, one can appreciate the street lamps creating the added shadows and effects further adding drama to her story.

Paul San Pedro capitalized on form and texture within his composition. The distinct differences in the environment's texture, and form allowed its audience to fixate on his subject. His brilliant use of the road and its line through the composition including the lamp light provided depth into the photograph. The contrasting shades of black and white amplified the simplicity and desolate feeling of being "Alone".

A hearty congratulation go out to these magnificent photographers, where all three winning photos had been picked on their own merits. Each entry was carefully rendered and brilliantly composed with the requisite drama and thought provoking mystery each one deserves.

There's a saying that the game of "Golf" was so named because all other four-letter words were taken. For the 6th CCP Golf Cup held on July 28 in the Midlands of Tagaytay Highlands, "Rain" was another four-letter word that came to mind. Despite the less-than-ideal weather conditions in the days leading to our golf tournament and on the day itself, members and guests gamely made the trip to Tagaytay Midlands to support this major fund raising activity for the Club. While the rain did indeed add another element of challenge to the already engaging course at the Midlands, nothing could stop our intrepid players from taking to the fairways.

Through the generosity of Canon Marketing Philippines, Inc. as a Major Sponsor, with a host of other hole sponsors, patrons and prize sponsors, a little rain was not nearly enough to dampen the fun brought by the event, with over 40 players and almost 100 members and guests joining the CCP at the fellowship dinner, the CCP truly put the "fun" in fund raiser. A special note of gratitude likewise goes out to the following Hole Sponsors: Aposento, Cebu Land Master, CWC Interiors, First Datacorp, Beta Electric, Rules of Raw, Glutamax, Yes, Inc., Paul San Pedro, Winford Hotel/Manila Jockey, Phil Realty, Eric Quiason, Jan Ailing/Melissa dela Merced, Anonymous donors and the probee team for their generous contributions for the success of this event. Indeed, the deluge outside the Montana Hall of Tagaytay Highlands was surpassed only by the number of prizes available for every guest and member, and everyone came home with something ranging from gift certificates to an Aeron Chair, three Canon M3 cameras and a P100 Canon Pixma printer, among a host of other prizes. The resounding success of this event would not have been possible without the leadership of the Committee Heads comprised of King Reyno, Paul San Pedro and Eddielu Arellano, whose efforts in raising sponsors, prizes and ticket sales in the months and weeks leading to the event could only be described as supreme.

Here's to another successful event for our beloved Club and we look forward to the 7th Golf Cup to coincide with our 90th Year!

For our 89th Anniversary, the CCP celebrated the founding of our beloved Club with international flair. Held at the Wack Wack Golf and Country Club on last August 17, our members arrived decked out in their best international costume, representing countries from all over the world. And, in keeping with the international flair of the event, our Anniversary was graced with the presence of the winners of the Mutya ng Pilipinas Pageant, courtesy of Fred Yuson

It was an absolute blast to see everyone so gamely dressed in their own international outfits, from the different Chinese costumes ranging from the traditional to a Maoist communist uniform, German lederhosen and our very own traditional costumes, our members had their creativity on full display.

The night's festivities was highlighted not only by the good food, but by the costume display and competition, which was handily won by Lifetime Member Mang Rudy De Leon and his full Igorot costume taking center stage. Speaking of center stage, what was supposed to be a small intermission dance number by the Probee Team turned into a line dancing session to the tune of Despacito led by our returning Probee Gene Menor.

Ably led by Garrick Ang and Jorge Buenaventura and emceed by Tony Lilles, it was a night of good food, fellowship and, of course, prizes.

If this night is any indication, our 90th Anniversary next year will truly be something special.
